THE RESIDENTS OF THE INDIANA NATURAL GAS REGION KNOW THE VALUE OF PROTECTION. Indianapolis, June 18 (Special).-Five hundred enthusiastic Republicans from Kokomo, one if the leading natural gas towns of Indiana, came down to the Hoosier capital this afterneon, and, headed by a brass band marched through the streets to the Denison Hotel, cheering for Harrison. About fifty women accompanied the delegation. General Harrison received the visitors in one of the parlors that in new used as the headquarters of the Republican State Committee. Kokomo is one of the Republican strongholds in Indiana and it was within three hours after his nomination that the leading representatives of the party telegraphed a pledge to give him an increase of at least five hundred votes over the usual melority of 1,100, which would be important gain in a State so evenly divided, politically, as Indiana. It is confidently expected that he promise will be fulfilled, as the advantages of natural cas have attracted 300 new voters to the town since the last election, nearly all of whom are strong advocates of protection. There are a dozen other towns in Indiana where there has been a similar incresse in the voting population, and in this alone it is believed there is an assurance of a pretty large Repub-his house. After they had assembled in the hotel cor-in behalf of the visitors, and responded as follows: Pather Rayburn and my Howard County Friends: I think I may accept this demonstration as evidence that the action of the Republican Convention at Chicago has been accepted with resig-nation by the Republicans of Howard County, (Applicuse.) You are the favored citizens of a favored county. Your county has been conspicuous among the counties of this State for its enterprise and intelligence. You have been favored with a kindly and generous soil. cultivated by an intelligent and educated class of farm-ers. Hitherto yea have chiefly drawn your wealth from the soil. You have had in the City of Kokomo an en-terprising and thrifty county town, you have been conspicuous for your interest and devotion to the cause of education, for your interest in bringing forward the com-ing penerations well equipped for the duties of citizen-

I congratulate you to-day that a new era of prosperity has opened for your county in the discovery of this new and free fuel to which Mr. Rayburn has alinded. A source of great wealth has been epened to your people, you have already begun to realize what it is to your centry, though your expectations have hardly grasped what it will be when the City of Kokomo and your other towns have reached the full development which will follow this discovery. (Applause.) You will then all realize, the citizens of that prosperous place, as well as the farmers throughout the county, the advantage of having a home market for the products of your farms. (Cheers and applause.)

You may not notice this so much in the appreciation of the steple products of your farms, but you will notice it in the expansion of the markets for those more perishable products which connot reach a distant market and must be whatever your provious political affiliations may have been, to consider the question-what legislation will most promote the development of the inquifacturing interests of your county and enlarge the home market for the products of your formed. I shall not enter upon a distussion of this question. It is enough to state it and leave it to your fatelligent consideration. (Applause.) Let me thank you again for this kindly visit and beg you to excuse any more extended remarks and to give me now an opportunity of thanking each of you personally for the kind things your chairman has said in my behalf.

The Republican state Central Committee has determined to take charge of all arrangements for delegations ralling upon General Harrison herafter. The eed of some preparement of this kind has been apparent for re end days, as the strain of receiving delegations as all hours has been more than General Harrison to the family are able to stand.

"Why?" remarked Chairman Huston, in speaking of the rea detactore. "General Harrison looks ten years eller than he did the day before his nomination."

There is some exaggreation in that statement, but the strain is certainly beginning to tell upon the General 1: has been found that the reasonger agents of indicasts running muo indiamapelis have been working at exturdors on the strength of General Harrison's willingness to receive callers as all times, and have thus been throwing upon him an extra amount of work. Under the new arrangement delegations will probably be received on only two days in each work.

Evans, of Hamfiton County, was chosen temporary chairman, and in his speech of acceptance congratulated the delegates upon the cheerful good feeling that existed and upon their earnest efforts to advance the interests of the party in the State. Lewis T. Bexter, of Nashville; David A. Nune, of Brownsville, and Samuel W. Hawkins, of Huntingdon, were put in nomination for Governor. The first ballo gave Baxter 280, Hawlies 256 3-4, and Nunn 164 1-4. On the second ballot, Mr. Nunn's name was withdrawn and a motion was carried to make the nomination of Mr. Hawkins unanimous. This was done amid great excitement, and Mr. Hawkins was brought into the hall and carried on the shoulders of three men to the chairman's stand. He accepted the nomination and said that with the right kind of work the state would go Republican next fall. Mr. Hawkins is farty years of age, a native of Carroll County, West Tennissee. He has never filled a political position. but four years ago was the Blaine and Logan elector for the State-at-large, his opponent being Robert L. Taylor, the present Governor. in behalf of Cleveland were unceasing.

Walter S. Carter, the well-known lawyer, of No. 346 Broadway, who is a member of the Twenty-fourth Ward Republican Association, Brooklyn, told a "Tribune" reporter yesterday that at their last meeting on Tuesday evening ex-Alderman Ruggles, president of the association, stated that he had held a conversation with Mr. Doty, who said that he was thoroughly dis satisfied with Cleveland's policy, especially that touching Civil Service reform, and that he was now in hearty accord with the Republican platform and prin ciples, and would accordingly support Harrison and Morton. Thereupon Mr. Doty's name was restored to the roll by a unanimous vote of the members present. "I feel quite certain," Mr. Carter added, "that Mr. Doty will take prominent part as a campaign worker this year."

SALUTING SENATOR MILLER AS GOVERNOR. Utica, July 18.—Warner Miller delivered an address at the annual meeting of the Merchants and Mechanics Association of Central New-York, held at Sylvan Beach, Oneida Lake, this afternoon. The Oneida Battery fired the Governor's salute of twenty-one guns on his arrival. His speech was confined principally to the currency and banking system of the country. Hundreds of people were badges inscribed "Hon. Warner Miller for Governor."

TO ANTAGONIZE PROHIBITION.

Chicago, July 18.-What is intended to be a National organization, designed to work in opposition to the hibition movement, was chartered under the State laws to-day, in the name of the Personal Right League. The incorporators are well-known German-American citizens of Chicago. The promoters design to have a popular National movement against Prohibition, though in favor of temperance.

EX-MAYOR LOW'S POLITICAL VAGARIES. The action of ex-Mayor Low in withdrawing from the first Ward Republican Association of Brooklyn only emphasizes his free-trude proclivities, his sole opposition to Republicanism being based upon the advecacy of protection to American industries by the Republican party in the Chicago platform. When renominated for Mayor in 1883 he claimed to be a Republican in National issues and non-partisan in State and local politics. Now he claims to be non-partisan in National politics and a Republican in State matters. His attitude in local issues n Brooklyn is yet undefined. William G. Low and Di R. C. Moffat and his two sens, who have followed Mr. Low out of the First Ward Association, supported Cleveland in 1884, but did not have the grace to withdraw

GLASS-MAKERS DREAD THE MILLS BILL. FEARS THAT IT WILL, IF CARRIED, SHUT DOWN

EVERY BLAST IN THE COUNTRY. The Mills bill was the one absorbing subject of conversation for the American Association of Window Glass Manufacturers, which met at the Fifth Avenue Hotel yesterday. The association takes in all the window glass manufacturers in the country, and those who were not present at this, the annual meeting, in person were represented by proxy. About fifty in all were present, and the chair was occupied by the president, F. L. Bodine, of Philadelphia. Great interest was shown in the report of President Bodine for the past year, which gave an extended view of the condition of the trade, and the effects which would result from the passage of the Mills bill.

Reviewing the general situation, Mr. Bodine finds from a careful collection of statistics that the product trade for the last year in this country was 25,000 boxes less than last year, or a total of 2,750,000 lican majority. General Harrison received the Kokomo boxes. On the other hand, the imports of the foreign product last year were about 1,175,000 boxes, or delegation at the hotel, mainly because he desired to 135,000 boxes more than in 1887. The reduction of the tariff proposed on window glass amounts to from save the visitors the fatigue of the long walk out to 3-8 of a cent to 5-8 of a cent, or from 20 to 25 cents ridors, he was addressed briefly by James H. Rayburn, a box. Since the reduction of 1883 official report show that the last four years' imports in this trade of the foreign product are over a million boxes beyond the preceding four years under the old and higher tariff. At the close of President Bodine's report, which was concurred in heartily by the glass manuwhich was concurred in heartily by the glass manufacturers present, the whole matter of the Mills bill part of the report was referred to the Tariff Committee.

A reporter talked with President Bedine after the meeting adjourned. "The Mills bill," said he, "will shut off every blast in the country. At the present tariff, as it was lowered about four years age, the manufacturers are forced to ask a reduction of wages, it is almost impossible now, even in the unusually active state of trade, for the glass manufacturers to make anything, but with the Mills bill, it would not be possible to run at all. FOR HARRISON, MORTON AND PROTECTION. Pittsburg, July 18 (Special).-Archer Lewis, an ex-member of the California Legislature, said to-day that he had left the Democratic party, and would vote for Harrison and Morton. A FIERCE MORNING BLAZE IN CHICAGO. HUNDREDS OF THOUSANDS OF DOLLARS WORTH OF PROPERTY CONSUMED.

Chicago, July 18 .- At about 11 o'clock this morning fire broke out in the magnificent building on the northeast corner of Wabash-ave, and Munroc-st. In reality it consists of two immense five-story buildings. The corner building, which was numbered 160 and 162 Wabash-ave., was occupied by the Chicago Carpet Company. The building on the north of this was or cupied by the piano-manufacturing firm of Julius Bauer & Co. and the Standard Musical and Manufacturing Company, which made and dealt in musical instruments other than planes.

The fire originated in the basement of the north diding, where plano-boxes and rubbish were stored. While a dozen men were at work in the midst of this inflammable stuff this morning, there was a terrific explosion. Almost in a moment the whole basement was on fire. Men rushed headlong up the stalrway, and were just able to make good their escape. which met at the Fifth Avenue Hotel, and out | The janitor of the building, James Mahoney, is miss-

By noon the destruction was complete. The building was owned by John Dekoven. His loss is put at $125,000, with $75,000 insurance. The Chicago Carpet Company's loss is about $75,000, of which $50,000 is total, as there was uninsured stock valued at that sum just received from New-York. Julius Bauer's stock was valued at $150,000, and was en tirely destroyed. The stock was insured, but the amount is not yet known. The Standard Music Com-pany's less is about $23,000.

"The News" says that the fire was incendiary, and that suspicion points to a porter whom Bauer & Co. discharged .. short time ago.

A WARNING THAT MEANS BUSINESS

"HANDS OFF! REMEMBER FOLGER." MR. CLEVELAND TOLD THE ONLY TERMS ON WHICH HE HAS A GHOST OF A CHANCE IN NEW-YORK.

From The New-York Sun. A right good man is Governor Hill,
A plain and stalwart Democrat,
He carries out the people's will
Through party ways, and all of that,
His friends are partisans, one and all,
Men of the old Jacksonian strain;
If any seek to plat his fall.

If any seek to plot his fall, Just let them think of this refrain: Hands off! Remember Folger! The party owns a grand array
Of Democrats both good and true
To lead its cohorts in the fray;
But Folger was a good man, too.
When parties choose their candidates,
Outside dictation they disdain.
And they who seek to carry States
Should ever ponder this refrain;
Hands off! Remember Folger!

The small, but saucy Mugwump squad May buzz about on restless wings,
Secking the party's sides to prod
And use their microscopic stings;
But idly will the Mugwumps boast,
And all the insects buzz in vain,
If they who guide the party host
Shall calmiy think of this refrain:
Hands off: hemember Folger!

Above all things Democracy Just now requires a Democrat,
With record straight as straight can be;
Just that, and nothing leve than that,
If they would selze the fleeting hour,
The chance that may not come again,
Twere well that those in place and power
Should study over this refrain:
Hands off; Remember Volgori A WOMAN BURNED TO A CRISP.

FLAMES IN A TENEMENT HOUSE.

SEVERAL PROPLE INJURED-MANY NARROW ES-CAPES-GALLANT RESCUES. One woman was burned to a crisp, several others injured and many people narrowly escaped death by a fire last night in a big four-story double tenement house, Nos. 379 to 381 First-ave. The flames were discovered shortly before midnight in the cellar, though their origin is unknown. A stairway leads out of the cellar right under the main stairway, which runs up through the centre of the house. These stairways formed a flue for the flames which were soon roaring up to the roof. The firemen arrived soon after the alarm was given, and the first one to rush up the stairway was met on the second flight by the body of a woman, which came rolling down upon him, so badly burned as to be unrecognizable at first night. She was identified later as Jessie McCall, age fifteen.

ground floor, was sleeping in his shop with a clerk. Both were overcome in their beds by the smoke and were rescued by Policeman Finnegan, who broke open the street door and dragged them out.

In the upper part of the building were eight families of tenants. In endeavoring to escape some of these were hurt. Mrs. Gordon sprang from her bed on the first floor in a dazed condition and leaped through the window sash, landing on the sidewalk with a broken ankle. Mrs. Coffee came staggering down the stairway with a child in her arms and in rushing through the flames that filled childen, whom he also rescued. The fire-escapes in the rear were used by many and Mrs. McComb fell from them and broke her ankle. The two top stories were entirely burned out, but the rest of the house was not much damaged before the flames were subdued. The loss is about $5,000, insured. THE BURLINGTON DYNAMITE CASE.

ONE OF THE ARRESTED MEN A PINKERTON DE-

TECTIVE-BOWLES'S COFESSION. Chicago, July 18.-John Wilson, the supposed en-gineer, arrested for complicity in the plot to destroy property of the Burlington Railroad Company, wen over to the prosecution to-day. He is a Pinkerton detective, whose right name is John Mulligan. The disclosure was brought about by the lawyers too closely pressing the cross-examination of Superinten-dent McGinn, of the Pinkerton agency, who was on the witness stand. The superintendent had the alter-native of an awkward refusal to answer a pertinent question concerning Wilson, or of causing the latter to show up in true colors. McGinn chose the latter. Superintendent McGinn related the circumstances of Broderick, one of their conspirators, throwing a mysterious letter out of the car window at the time of the arrest, and the subsequent recovery of the letter. The motive of Broderick in ridding himself of the missivo and the extreme secretiveness of the officials in guarding its contents is not apparent. The letter was as TOM BRODERICK.

Dear Sir and Brother: I just received a letter from Bowles from Glenwood Junction, Mo., and don't know where to write him so he will get my letter. You should have made arrangements with him when he was at Creston. I will let you know if I can get him, as soon as possible. Let me know where to address you every you write. # FIRE HOSE AGAINST FIRE ARMS.

HOUSETOP DRENCHED INTO SUBMISSION. The usually quiet village of New-Rochelle enjoyed a broath of excitement yesterday, on the occasion of frontier fashion. Clark is a slightly built man, about thirty, rather good-looking and prepossessing in appearance. He bears a bad reputation, however, having been arrested several times for burglary and various offences. He has never been convicted, but at present is under bonds to appear in court on two indictments. Four days ago, after threatening vengeance on several of his townsmen for endeavoring to have him arrested, he locked his wife in a room and told her he was going out, but would return soon to kill her. He was arrested for breach of the peace and using threatening language. Before being confined in the village lock-up he was carefully searched, as he is an adept at breaking fall, having escaped once before from this same jail by filing through the bars of his cell.

Night before last he forced one of the bars in th top of his cell and managed to squeeze through the narrow opening. This reached, he climbed over the top of the cage, down to the corridor below, and waited there till morning. When one of the constables came to open the door leading into the corridor, about 8 o'clock yesterday morning, Clark dashed past him into o'clock yesterday morning, Clark dashed past him into the street. The constable started in pursuit, and Clark ran into his house, which was only a few doors distant. Seizing a rifle, he went upstairs and climbed out on the roof, where he remained, threatening to shoot any one who came up after him. No one attempted to storm his castle until the constable conceived the scheme of bringing out the fire-engine and playing the hose on him. This, together with the entreaties of his mother, who begged him to surrender, brought Clark to terms, and he gave himself up to the constables, who lodged him in fall again.

TO REJOIN TAMMANY HALL

KEARNEY AND PURROY DISSATISFIED.

THEIR FRIENDS DECLARING THAT THE TWO WILL DESERT THE COUNTY DEMOCRACY -A LIVELY DISTURBANCE EX-PECTED IN THE DEMO-CRATIC STATE CON-VENTION.

IBY TELEGRAPH TO THE TRIBUNE. Saratoga, July 18.-From what a correspondent of "The Tribune" was able to learn this evening, there seems to be no doubt that there will be the liveliest kind of a row before long in the County Democracy organization in New-York. It is said that Edward Kearney, who is one of the most prominent of the Henry D. Purroy, both leaders in the County Demo-cracy faction, will bid farewell to Police Justic Maurice J. Power, Richard A. Cumingham, Police Justice J. Henry Ford, Police Commissioner John R. Voorhis, and others, and at the urgent solicitation of Richard Croker, John Kelly's successor, will again come members of the Trimmany organization.

Ever since Croker took control of the Fourteenth-st. establishment he has been urging Purroy and Kearney to step out of the New-Amsterdam Club party, other tions of prominence under him in the management of Tammany's affairs. Purroy and Kearney were virtually kicked out of Tammany Hall by Kelly, and they joined Hubert O. Thompson's forces and fought Kelly. When Thompson died, Purroy and Kearney were sent to the rear by his successor, Justice Power, and he treated them in that distant manner for which he is famous. They broaded over this kind of treatment until they were tired. It is said now that they have at last agreed to turn their backs upon Boss Power and to embrace Boss Croker, and their friends think that they have made no mistake in arriving at

At the time of the St. Louis Convention, when Croker chartered a special car to take him and a few personal friends from New-York to the metropolis of Missouri, Croker said to Kearney and Purroy: "Why don't you fellows come with me? I selected berths for you in my car. Leave those County Democracy people. You know that you ought not to have anything to do with them. You belong in Tammany Hall."

Kearney thought the matter over and concluded that he would not attend the Convention and Purroy came to the same conclusion. Their friends, and they count them by the thousands, felt that Kearney and Purroy would not remain with the County Democracy organization, and have been waiting patiently for a long time for orders from them to join the Tammany procession. Purroy and Kearney are old friends, and believe in each other. They are battle-axe-scarred political fighters and were always at the front to gether. Purroy is a frequent visitor to Saratoga. He comes here ostensibly to fish in some unheard-of stream, but in the locality is known to spend much of his time riding with Kearney behind a pair of fast trotters from Kearney's private stable. Purroy came here on Saturday and returned to New-York on Mon day. He never tells what he intends to do until he here on Saturday and returned to New-York on Monday. He never tells what he intends to do until he has fully determined what his course should be. Then he talks with ne uncertain sound. He speaks right out from the shoulder, as it were. He said while in Saratoga that circumstances might arise which would in his opinion cause him to resign his membership in the County Democracy. He added that it did not necessarily follow that he would become a member of the Tammany organization.

A Tribune reporter saw Edward Kearney to-night at his house, in Caroline-st., and asked him whether or not it was true that he and Purroy intended to withdraw from the County Democracy faction and return to Tammany Hall. Kearney was not surprised at the question. He said that while he was in New-York on Monday night many reporters asked him the same question. He would say, however, that he was not yet ready to answer what seemed to be an interesting conundrum to many politicians. He thought it quite likely that he would have something to say upon the subject after he had visited New-York and had conferred with certain persons who should be nameless for the present. He would not answer for Purroy, except to say that it was shameful that a man so eminently fitted for leadership had not been properly recognized in the faction with which Purroy and himself are for the present identified.

Politicians here have no doubt that Kearney and Purroy will break loose from the County Democracy and predict cheos and all sorts of terrible things for that absurdly mismanaged organization when Kearney and Purroy leave it. They have talked freely with friends here, but not for publication, and there is no room for doubt that they will be glad to return to Tammany and enjoy the society or ceoker and his army.

WHAT O'DONOBUE AND PURROY SAY.

THEIR WORDS ARE FEW AND NOT AT ALL DEFINITE AS TO THE TRUTH OF THE REPORT. The friends of Joseph J. O'Donohue seemed highly indignant yesterday at the interview which was published making it appear that he had declared himself to be Tammany's candidate for Mayor, and that his nomination had been fully settled by the wigwars leaders. This Mr. O'Donohue's admirers declare to be all wrong. He does not talk that way, they say. He certainly did not when he was seen at his office in Front-st. late in the afternoon and was asked about his candidacy. "I don't know anything about it," he replied with "I've not made the slightest effort in my own behalf, and anything that has been done for me is without my authority. No. I have not even talked with Mr. Croker or Sheriff Grant about the matter. I don't know how they feel about it. The fact is I've been away on a little vacation. I'm going off again to-morrow on a fishing trip down in New-England. In other words, I'm trying to enjoy myself and am letting politics alone."

It was perfectly plain, however, from Mr. O'Donohue's manner that he intends to be Mayor Hewitt's successor if such a thing is possible, and he evidently

When Henry D. Purray was asked about the report that he was going into Tammany Hall, he replied: "I am going to take a few days to think this over in order to be perfectly fair about it. Now, if you will see me the last of the week I will tell you about "If I were to read between the lines," said the reporter, "I should say that the report was true." The Commissioner laughed and repeated his invitation to come later, and remarked that until then his lips would be sealed against newspaper men.

A STRONG TIDE AGAINST CLEVELAND. WHAT A PROMINENT DEMOCRAT FOUND GOING

ON IN THE INTERIOR OF THIS STATE. A prominent Democrat who has been visiting the Interior of the State returned to the city yesterday and made no secret among his intimate freinds of ex-pressing his astonishment at the way in which the Democrats of that region are deserting the Cleveland " At Albany, Syracuse, Rochester and Buffalo, he said. "I found many, and heard many more, who never to my knowledge voted anything but a Democratic ticket at general elections, who are going against us. I cannot understand it for my part. They say they are against us on the free-trade issue, but I suspect that it is as much as anything because of their personal dislike of Cleveland himself. Whereever Mr. Cleveland has lived or is well known he is personally unpopular. Why it is so I cannot say, of course, but it is a melancholy fact. And the men who are leaving us don't seem to care who knows it. I heard of bets being offered with no takers that if Hill stands for Governor he will run 20,000 votes ahead of Cleveland in the State. I tell you things have a funny look.

"Do I think the men I refer to will remain hostile to Cleveland until the polls close? Yes, str. They are against him to stay, and they are men of influence, every one of them."

JACKSON S. SCHULTZ AGAINST FREE TRADE. Jackson S. Schultz has no intention of permitting the leather merchants of England to transact his business for him. Although four years ago he was a strong advocate for Cleveland and "reform," he has had his eyes opened, and having witnessed the farce of bogus reform which is being played by the present Administration, has come out strongly against Cleve land and free trade. Mr. Schultz has a unique way of doing his electioneering. He carries a pocketful of Harrison and Morton buttons, which he gives to his friends and acquaintances. "You look like a Harrison man," he said to young voter whom he met at a barber-shop in East Eighteenth-st., yesterday. "You look like a man who has too much good sense to go for free Take this button and range yourself on the side of protection. But if you don't care to wear it yourself give it to some other good man." It is said that Mr. schultz's buttons are worn by many of his neighbors who, like himself, voted for Cleveland in 1864.

HAVING A HARD TIME WITH THEIR LEAGUE. The weak-kneed effort that some of the Democratic campaign managers are making to get up a Democratic State League has turned out rather poorly so far Yesterday there was a meeting of members from various parts of the State at the headquarters, No. 220 Broadway. These men came to make reports of the success of the League, and as there were few reports to make they were not in session long. Various questions pertaining to the campaign and the disposition of Democratic "boodle" were discussed.

DEMOCRATIC MANAGERS QUIET. There was no meeting of the Democratic National Executive Committee yesterday. Assistant Secretary Dickinson and Sergeant-at-Arms Ass Smith, who was formerly State Senator of Connecticut, were the only persons at headquarters. Chairman Barnum had gone home and Chairman Brice was popularly supposed to be getting ready to go to work. Congressman W. L. Scots spent the day at the Fifth Avenue Hotel, trying to placate angry anti-Administration men, but with small success.

Owing to repairs in progress at the Hoffman House it will be several days before the Democratic State Committee can occupy its quarters there.

MAYOR GLEASON USES HIS HAMMER.

HE BREAKS DOWN GATES AND FENCES OF THE LONG ISLAND RAILROAD WHICH BOTHERED

If there ever was a more aggressive Mayor than P. J. Gleason, of Long Island City, when he thinks he is in the right, his name has not yet been recorded. Shortly after 10 o'clock last night Mayor Gleason was returning from a drive through Flushing-st. To reach his stables in Front-st. it was necessary to cross the tracks of the Long Island Railroad. He found a long train lying across the street, making his further progress impossible until it suited the conveni-ence of the engineer to back out.

The Mayor called out to him to move away, but the engineer retorted with an oath. This aroused the tre of the magistrate; and throwing his reins to a boy, he ran to his stables and returned within three minute with a twenty-pound sledge-hammer. The train had meanwhile been hurried out. The Mayor attacked the gates with the hoavy sledge, and soon the splintering of wood attracted a large crowd, who cheered the Mayor in his Then the neighboring fences went down.

Having cleared a free passage on one side the Mayo returned to the attack on the other, and in ten minutes the platforms were littered with broken guard rails. and pickets and shattered glass lamps. The Mayor's little attack will cost the company about $300 if it has the hardihood to re-erect the barriers.

There has been a long-standing controversy between the city officials and the railroad company over the fences and barriers which the Mayor broke down. The city officials assert that the company does not provide proper safeguards at certain points against accidents to pedestrians and vehicles in the streets, while it blocks traffic in switching trains and by the erection of uscless

OBITUARY.

CAPTAIN ROLAND FOLGER COFFIN

Captain Roland Folger Coffin, the yachting editor "The World," died suddenly on Tuesday evening from heart disease, in the telegraph office at Prospect, Shelter Island Heights, where, at the time, he was writing his report of the Atlantic Yacht Club's race from New-London to Shelter Island. After the sloop Fanny had crossed the line and anchored in Decring's Harbor, the captain, with several colleagues, landed and walked up the beach. He sat down in the office and began to write his article, and when he had nearly completed it fell back in his chair and died instantly. One of the valves of his heart had been affected for some time, and this trouble was the cause of his death.

Captain Coffin was one of the best-known newspaper men in the city, and was especially well-equipped for the work which formed his specialty. He on March 8, 1826, on Nantucket Island, and was the descendant of a long line of seamen of English stock When only a boy he shipped before the mast, was rapidly promoted for efficiency, and had the satisfac tion, at the age of twenty-five, to succeed his father in the command of the Senator, a full-rigged merchantman. As sailor, mate, master and captain, he sailed every sea on the globe, and thus acquired a large store of valuable information. When the war broke out he enlisted in the Navy and was one of the Monitor's crew at the time of the Merrimae engagement. Later he was master of the Ericcson, and after the war he returned to the merchant navy, and in 1869 retired and engaged in literary pursuits. Since 1870, he had been on the staff of "The World," and beame the author of many valuable articles, papers and more extensive works on nautical matters. Prominent among them were "The Queen's Cup," "Archibald the Cat," and "Old Sallor's Yarns."

Captain Coffin was a member of Anglo-Saxon Lodge No. 137, F. and A. M., and of the Press Club. The latter organization will hold a meeting this afternoon to arrange with the family for the burial of the body in the Press Club plot, in Cypress Hills. In the mean-time the body has been taken to the Captain's home, No. 677 Monroe-st., Brooklyn, where a wife and daughte mourn the loss of a tender husband and a fond father.

W. G. TURNER.

W. G. Turner, of Mercer, Penn., died suddenly of Tuesday, at the Mount Vernou Hotel, Washington. Mr. Turner was well known in New-York, where during the last few years he has been spending most of his time. He was a member of the Consolidated Exchange, and consequently had a large circle of ec-quaintances in Wall-st. and lower Broadway. He always registered at the Astor House, where the clerks remember him as a handsome man, distinguished by his courtesy. Mr. Turner was an official of the Post Office Department in Washington, at the time of the Star Route prosecution, and was an intimate and confidential friend of General Brady. He was a witness in the celebrated trials, and it was frequently said that had he desired to tell all he knew his evidence would have been sufficient to convict all the conspirators.

In Pennsylvania Mr. Turner had a political record During the early seventies, he Mercer in the State Legislature for several terms. He was a Grand Army man, and lost a leg during the war. He was of soldierly appearance, and was always a notable figure. Some surprise was occasioned both among his New-York and Washington friends that he died at a hotel so obscure as the Mount Vernon.

JOHN W. THORNE.

John W. Thorne died at his home, No. 166 West Fifty-fifth-st., on Tuesday. He was born in this city on August 11, 1816. At the age of nineteen he entered the Chemical Bank, in which his father, Thomas W. Thorne, was a large stockholder. Later he became one of the directors of the National Fire Insurance Company of New-York, of which his father was the first president, and his brother, William Thorne, was the ond president. At the organization of the Produce Exchange he became a member and remained so until about six years ago, when the disease from which he finally died prevented his taking an active part in business.

He had long been known as one of the stanchest Republican leaders of the Ninth Ward and had several times been invited to run for Congress, but in-variably declined, owing to his many business obliga-tions. The funeral will be held at 10:30 a. m. to-morrow at his home.

TWO IMPORTANT ELECTRIC LIGHT DECISIONS. Probably two of the most important decisions in electric light matters ever rendered were cabled from Engand yesterday, judgment having been entered in the High Court of Chancery in two suits brought by the Edison-Swan Company, against Holland, the first being upon the Edison patent for "carbon filament of high resistance," and the second upon the Sawyer-Man patent taken out by Cheeseboro for the "method of treating the earbon in a hydro-carbon vapor and of driving out the occluded gases." These cases have been on trial for some time, and the testimony of the most learned scientists of England has been taken on both sides. The Court decided that the Edison patent was void, and that the Sawyer-Man patent was valid and awarded judgment against the defendants upon the Sawyer-Man patent. These are the inventions upon which so much litigation is now being had in this which so much litigation is now being has in to country. The Edison patent is owned here by the Edison Electric Light Company, of New-York, and the Sawyer-Man patent is owned by the Consolidated Electric Light Company, of New-York. They relate to the incandescent lamp which has come into such general use throughout the country.
